WEST FRONT
ARE ACTIVERAIDING PARTIES ARE MORE ACTIVE THAN USUAL—GER-MAN ARTILLERY HAS INCREASED ITS ACTIVITY.

HUNS SUFFER LOSSES

British Troops Are Reported to Have Captured 37 Prisoners in the Vicinity of Ypres.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Favorable weather on most of the western fronts has led to increased fighting but none of the armies have yet made an attack in great strength, all apparently are keyed up to the highest pitch and the raids into opposing trenches are becoming stronger.In the Champagne where the German artillery has been very active the French have withstood a German attack. The efforts were repulsed by the French with severe losses to the attackers. American raiding parties and American runners both are busy on the sectors Northwest of Toul and east of Lunville. The Germans are noting the activity and are making attempts to break through the lines but have been repulsed.Take 37 Prisoners.
British troops in the Ypres area Wednesday took the initiative and in a rapid southeast of Polygon Wood captured 37 prisoners and three machine guns and inflicted casualties.
The German artillery activity is intense in the Ypres sector and between Arras and Amiens where strong German raids earlier in the day were repulsed by British and Portuguese troops. On the sector in Palestine north of Jaffa the British have advanced three miles on an eleven mile front. Six villages were taken and two strongholds were taken in the face of Turkish resistance. An advance also has been made on the Jerusalem-Nablus road in Central Palestine.Huns Hold Odessa.
In the east the Germans now hold Odessa, the great Russian seaport on the Black Sea, which probably will be used either as a base for an invasion of India by way of Persia or as a terminal of grain shipments from Russia to the Central Empire. Turkey German plans in the Caucasus, which included the surrender by Russia of the Caucasian provinces which would provide a roadway to Persia and the Caspian sea are opposed by the Caucasian government. Turkey has been informed that the Caucasian government does not recognize the treaty with the Bolsheviks and that it should treat with the Caucasian direct.Ship Toll Increases.
British shipping losses for the past week totaled 18 vessels, the same number as lost in the two previous weeks. There is an increase, however, in the number of large ships sunk. Fifteen of 1600 tons or over were reported this week, while in the previous two weeks the ships of large tonnage numbered 14 and 12 respectively.Shipping Agreement.
An important shipping agreement has been reached between the United States and Great Britain, by which Dutch ships in American, British and other allied ports are to be taken over for allied uses. The ship owners, only, figure in the transaction.Tired of Delay.
The slowness of the Netherlands government in the long delay in the agreement is explained as the reason for the dropping of negotiations and the agreement to take the ships under international law, with compensation for the owner and safeguarding of their rights. This new arrangement will mean an addition of about one million tons to the shipping resources of the allies.Sent by Request.
Berlin today announces that the German troops which occupy Odessa, were sent thither in agreement with the Rumanian government. This apparently would refer to the clause in the peace treaty with Rumania in which that nation was required to give all possible aid to the transport of troops of the central powers through Bessarabia to Odessa.Zepp Active.
In last night's air raid on England only one Zeppelin crossed the coast, dropping four bombs on Hartlepool, which damaged residence property and killed five persons. In an engagement between the British and five German planes on Tuesday one of the German planes was destroyed and the other compelled to descend. The observers of another machine killed. The British planes went out of action when they had exhausted their ammunition and returned safely.SWISS NEUTRALITY UNDER DISCUSSION[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Bern, March 14.—The Swiss federal council last night discussed a report on the question of neutrality which dealt with the recognition of Swiss neutrality by belligerent powers.
The reports stated that the declaration made by the United States had been called for by the federal council, which had learned of the presence of American troops on the Swiss frontier. Switzerland, it is added, attaches the highest importance to its neutrality being recognized unconditionally.SCHOOLS CLOSE AFTERNOONS ers may hear patriotic lectures by a sion is to tell teachers the best way

Use German Army
To Oppose Germans[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, March 14.—Further indication that Leon Trotsky, the former Russian foreign minister, will oppose ratification of the Soviet congress of Germany's peace terms, and that he will advocate the organization and use of the army in defending Russia, seems apparent. Words to this effect were contained in a dispatch to the state department today from Ambassador Francis at Volodga.
The ambassador received a conversation that Trotsky had as late as March 11, in which he said he considered war unavoidable and advocated an "iron discipline" for the army. The ambassador added that this might or might not be significant.The former foreign minister expressed great interest in the report that Siberia was about to be invaded by Japan, whether in conjunction with the armies of other powers, or alone, and appeared somewhat sensitive regarding it.Has been reached between the United

HISTORY APPOINTEDMadison, Wis., March 14.—Magnus Svensen, chairman of the state council of defense, has appointed a war history commission whose function will be that of gathering and preserving all the material that can be obtained relating to Wisconsin's share in the great war. The plan is the outgrowth of steps taken early in the war by the national board of historical service in Washington to make a complete and monumental collection of the material pertaining to America's part in this great struggle.The commission consists of Dr. M.
M. Quinte, chairman; Prof. Carl Russell of the University of Wisconsin; Capt. H. A. Whipple, Waterman; Prof. A. H. Sanford, La Crosse; William W. Abbott, Eau Claire; J.
A. H. Lacher, Wausau; and W. N.
Parker, Madison. At a meeting of the commission held in the superintendent's office of the State Historical society March 8, 1918, plans were made whereby the commission expects to co-operate with the county committees, the local libraries, historical societies and the schools in the worthy work of collecting and preserving the records of each locality in our state relating to the war.Wisconsin today possesses the most complete collection of papers, letters, photographs and historical relics relating to the great civil war of 1861-65 of any state in the union. But there are a few missing records, a few gaps in the part that our state played in that great struggle which can never be supplied.It will be the purpose of the war history commission—by co-operating with the local councils, the schools, the libraries and historical societies—to see to it that no act of Wisconsin's contribution to this war goes unrecorded. Letters from the soldiers, documents of every kind and resolutions, newspaper accounts relating to our part in the war, will all be collected for permanent preservation.The local war committees in to be appointed in every county of the state, and work in co-operation with the county council of defense, will see to it that records of local events, connected with the war. Dr. John W.
Oliver of the State Historical society, Madison, has been named director of the commission.GOVERNOR REDUCES FOWLER'S SENTENCE[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Wis., March 14.—Governor Phillips has commuted the sentence of John P. Fowler, Milwaukee school teacher, who pleaded guilty of embezzlement, to six months. The term for which he was sentenced was one year. Governor Phillips announced, however, that Fowler would be compelled to serve his six months' term and that he would not grant an application for parole after Fowler had served one-half of his term. Fowler was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and he went to Milwaukee and engaged in teaching. He used some of the book funds of the school. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced on January 18, 1918 for a term of one year. Governor Phillips has reduced this sentence to six months.The applications of two other Mil-waukeeans were denied. Governor Phillips denied the application of E.
R. Buckingham, who was sentenced to the prison at Waupun in 1916 for a term of three years for embezzlement. Buckingham wanted to join the army. He also denied the application of Mike Costa, Milwaukee, convicted of running a house of ill fame, and given a six months' sentence on January 1.DISASTROUS FLOOD IN EASTERN CITY;
MICHIGAN SUFFERS[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rochester, N. Y., March 14.— Scores of families have been driven from their homes and all the streets in Hornell are under water and business paralyzed as a result of a disastrous flood due to a cloudburst as it swept down the valley of Genesee river early this morning inundating one-third of the city.Detroit, March 14.—Damage estimated at more than a million has been wrought in lower Michigan by the tremendous rain fall of the past 24 hours. In some districts railroad traffic has been abandoned. In the outlying section of Detroit flood conditions prevail.SOCIAL CONDITIONS IN DETROIT SERIOUS[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Detroit, Mich., March 14.—Social investigators who have been studying war conditions and industrial changes in Detroit since the United States took up arms against Germany are seemingly agreed that the problem of safeguarding young women is broader and more serious than it has ever been."Stay away from Detroit" is the message which local women are sending to girls in other cities. The belief that Detroit offers great opportunities for women workers is erroneous, social workers say.Within the past six months, especially this winter, dozens of pitiful cases have been reported to city officials. Considerable money has been advanced to penniless girls, so they could return to their homes. In some cases the girls came here from eastern states and numerous instances have been cited of young women being rescued from the brink of ruin.Some social workers believe that while slavers have been really responsible for the report that there were positions galore in Detroit for women. Other charity workers are inclined to think the report developed from the tremendous prosperity which Detroit enjoyed in 1916 when the real estate boom was on and when factories were working at top speed to fill immense orders from England and France.Investigation has disclosed that many business and professional men who enlisted or who are devoted much time to their capacities, closed their offices. This made it necessary for many well trained young women to seek other positions. But this phase of the help situation has not been serious. Most of the trouble has been reported by industrial concerns.
Scores of girls living in other Michigan cities or outside of the state have been reported of girls who were saved from danger after they had started for disreputable rooming houses—the result of innocent inquiries for a cheap place to room. One girl came to Detroit hoping to get a position in a factory which had not yet been built.When government agents found themselves too busy to devote much time to trailing white slavers, Detroit women took up the work. Probably no report of their efforts ever will be made public but police records show cases of girls who were saved from public spirited women. A few days ago a campaign was started against cheap dance halls, cafes, and other places where girls were being lured and many arrests have been made.
A girl who was taken in custody had just come from a Canadian city.
A friend of the family took her to a theater and then to a cafe.
She claimed she had been drugged.TOWNS CAPTURED BY REBELLING CHINESE[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Peking, Sunday, March 11 (delayed) March 14.—Taking advantage of disorder in the province of Szechuan, the Tibetans have rebelled and are marching into Szechuan where they have captured several towns.
The force is estimated at ten thousand and is armed with modern rifles.
Tibet is controlled virtually by the Chinese government. The Chinese government is looking after foreign relations and maintaining small garrisons of Chinese troops. In 1913 Tibet demanded complete autonomy and in October of that year Tibetans were successful in fighting against the Chinese. A conference at Simla, India, in July, 1914, failed to agree on a convention with China. Great Britain and Tibet, assuring the autonomy of Tibet. In January, 1917, Great Britain presented ten demands on China, affecting Tibet, but these have not been agreed to. The province of Szechuan has been overrun by bandits, against whom Chinese troops have been able to make little headway.ITALY'S FIFTH WAR LOAN IS COMPLETED[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rome, March 14.—The fifth national war loan closed yesterday.
The subscription in Italy for the fifth loan has resulted in some cities not yet reported. When these reports are received it is expected the total will be six billion Italian statutes forwarded in Exchange Telegraph dispatch, Italy's war expense to Jan. 31 amounted to 33,091,000,000 lire. Nearly thirty billion lire was expended by the army and the remainder for the navy.DELAWARE ASSEMBLY VOTES PROHIBITION[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Dover, Delaware, March 14.—The Delaware house of representatives today adopted a joint resolution ratifying the federal prohibition amendment to the constitution. The measure now goes to the senate.PAN-AMERICAN ALIGNMENT AGAINST GERMANY NOT FAR FROM COMPLETEOf the fourteen nations that have severed relations with Germany since America's declaration of war ten have been those of the new world. Peru, Bolivia, Brazil and Uruguay of South America have severed with Germany in Central America Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Panama, Cuba and Haiti are also lined up with the allies. Among the still neutral American countries the anti-German sentiment is rapidly growing, the intrigue of German agents is being seriously crippled and a Pan-American alignment against Germany is not far from complete.MINIMUM EXPORTATION OF FOOD TO MEXICO[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] Laredo, Tex., March 14.—Exportation of food supplies to Mexico is now at a minimum, government officials estimate, as a result of the new rules pertaining to the exportation of food supplies from the United States to neutral countries.
Flour has practically been placed under an absolute ban, except to persons from the Mexican side who after crossing to the American side with passports and food cards issued to them, permitting the purchase of food supplies sufficient for family use.
Dealers in flour and bread on the Mexican side have been compelled to suspend business, as flour and bread are prohibited.
Dealers accustomed to getting supplies of sugar, flour, coffee, potatoes, etc., also are affected, as no provisions, no matter how small the quantity, may now cross the border without a federal license.BASE ARMY DRAFT ON REGISTRATION[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, March 14.—A compromise plan to base army draft quotas on registration and liability to service instead of the present basis of state population and Provost Marshal General Crowder's plan to base it on class has been framed by Representative Shattlenberger of Nebraska. It is acceptable to Chairman Dent of the house military committee and will be thrust out by the house and an effort will be made to secure President Wilson's support. Meantime Chairman Dent announced he would not necessarily delay the quota bill, but would hold the army appropriation bill until Secretary Baker returned.
The compromise proposed the following: Quotas shall be based on the number of persons registered and liable for military service (in a state) and credit shall be given for the number of men who have entered the military service of the United States from any such state, territory, district or sub-division thereof since April, 1917.INSURANCE SALES WIN CAPTAINCYNinety-four per cent of the soldiers at Camp Zachary Taylor have been insured. It's the banner camp.
As a result of establishing this record Lieut. Warner Sayers, Louisville athlete, has been made a captain. He headed the insurance drive.Find Many Pounds Of Explosives in Hog Island Yards[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, March 14.—Enough dynamite to blow up half the great ship yards at Hog Island has been found there during February, Dudley R. Kennedy, manager of the industrial relations department, told the senate investigating committee today, and secret service men have been unable to find who placed it there.
The testimony was brought out by Senator Nelson of Minnesota, who asked Kennedy whether the American international corporation has had any difficulty with spies.
Kennedy hesitated somewhat to make the statement at a public hearing, said Kennedy, "but the fact is we found two hundred and forty-five pounds of dynamite on the grounds last night." What amount, intelligently placed, would have been enough to blow up one-half of the yards. Twenty pounds were found in one place, the remainder being hidden in different parts of the yards.M'GOVERN MAY ENTER GUBERNATORIAL RACE[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., March 14.—The general belief around the state capitol today was that E. M. McGovern of Milwaukee will be a republican candidate for governor next fall. Two years ago McGovern was a candidate for governor but the progressive vote was divided between W. H. Hutton of New London and E. M. McGovern of Milwaukee. Since Mr. McGovern has withdrawn from the senatorial contest the better is current here in republican circles that McGovern would be back as a loyal candidate this fall.
Senator Roy P. Wilcox, Eau Claire, another republican gubernatorial applicant is in the city and is said to be looking over the field preparatory to making an announcement.
As time goes on the republicans are further indicated in the field. When the question is put up to the governor he dodges the issue. His friends, however, are sure that he will give over the public party will unite on him.
From what can be learned the governor is not anxious for another term, but considerable pressure is being exerted over the state.AGREEMENT REACHED BY ENGLAND AND U. S.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, March 14.—Because of the long delay in the negotiations with Holland over the Dutch ships in allied ports, and the slowness of the Dutch government to act in this respect, Great Britain and the United States have reached an agreement to end the long delay in the use of such ships next week for the use of the allies.HARTLEPOOL ATTACKED BY HUN AIR RAIDERS[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, March 14.—In last night's air raid one ship crossed the coast and dropped four bombs on Hartlepool. Six dwelling houses were demolished and thirty damages. Five persons were killed and nine injured.
Last night's air raid was the second in a row in two days over England by Zeppelins. In neither case, however, was an attempt made to reach the London district, where German Zeppelins met with disaster on previous expeditions. In Tuesday night's raids Hull was bombed. Hartlepool, attacked last night, is a port of sixty-five thousand inhabitants in northern England.BRAVERY OF

Enemy Raids Were Repulsed by American Forces—French Commander Impressed With Excellent Work.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, March 14.—American troops that repulsed the German raids on March 5th were from the "Rainbow" division, which is made up of national guards, General Pershing reported today.
The commander of the American division was personally congratulated by General Gerard, commander of the eighth French army, for the manner in which the Americans conducted themselves.The Dispersal.
General Pershing's message, as given on out by the war department, follows:
Summary of activity on the "Rainbow" division front on the nights of March 4th and 5th: Enemy attempted trench raids in early morning of March 5th. Troops were repulsed with losses to the enemy. Our losses reported light. No missing or prisoners. General Gerard, commanding the French army, commended the division commander on way in which the troops repulsed the raid.All Tied Up.
British front in France and Belgium, March 14.—The British and German military machines, tuned up to the final pitch and probably as nearly perfect as it is possible to make them, are still awaiting the decisive blow. The amount of phosphorus sent them crashing against each other. Meanwhile artillery pounds the way in thunderous duels at various points in the line which are still being photographed.
Wonderful Work.
Bombing raids by British aviators have been almost continuous. One of the most successful expeditions was that against three enemy aerodromes on March 3. This raid was carried out by a large number of machines during the daytime. A British aeroplane arrived at the aerodromes at a number of German machines about to start were standing in a field near their hangars. The British attacked at a height of four thousand feet and because of the low altitude were several buildings were set on fire and direct hits observed among the German machines.SHIP BOARD AWARDS delivery of all vessels in 1919.Contracts also were let to the Hall-more Dry Dock Company, Duluth, for construction of six steel tankers of 6,000 tons, and to the Har-

Wis., for two steel tug boats.BOLO PASHA MUST

Paris, March 14.—The appeal of Bolo Pasha from the sentence of death imposed by court martial for treason was rejected today by the court of revision which confirmed the original judgment. The same action was taken by the court in the case of Gerdy Pasha, who was tried with Bolo Pasha and sentenced to three years imprisonment.RAILROADS ORDERED

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL
PUPIL ENTERS NAVY

Elmer Inman on His Way to Great Lakes Naval Training Station to Begin Training at Once.

Elmer Inman, son of Claude E. Inman of Racine street, left this morning for Rockford to report to the navy recruiting station for active service. He is expected to leave Rockford this afternoon to begin training at the Great Lakes naval training station.

Young Inman, who is only eighteen years old, had been attending high school previous to his enlistment and played a prominent part in school athletics. He was half-back on the high school football team last year and also played on his class basketball team.

He was a member of the Boy Scouts, Troop No. 4, where he secured some training which will no doubt be of help to him in the navy. He was also a member of the "Hi-Y" club of the Y. M. C. A.

EVANSVILLE STORE
ROBBED LAST NIGHT

Economy Department Store Entered by Thieves—Chief Gilman Arrests Donald Harris, Who Confesses.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, Wis., March 14.—The Economy department store of this city was entered last evening and goods valued at over a hundred dollars taken. The robbery was discovered Thursday morning upon the arrival of the employees. It was found that the robber had removed the glass from the back door and then unlocked the door. The loot consisted of shoes, tobacco and a quantity of food.

Chief Gilman of the local police department was notified and he immediately set out for the railroad yards and within ten minutes after his return he advised the police of the robbery. The man in jail, the burglar, who claims his name is Donald Harris, and his home in Indiana, is a young man twenty-one or twenty-two years of age and fairly well dressed. He confessed to the crime.

When arrested he had on his person several of the stolen articles and a .38-calibre revolver. He also had between forty and fifty shells for the gun in his possession. He was lodged in the local jail and will be taken in Evansville this afternoon, where he will appear before Judge Maxfield.

WHAT EACH SIDE WANTS IN EAST

The territory in black is what Germany asked of Russia at the Brest-Litovsk conference as the price of peace. Inside the solid black-and-white line is that territory naturally Poland. ## AMUSEMENTS

(Notices furnished by the theatres.)

Myers Theatre.

At the Myers Theatre, on Friday evening, March 15, Oliver Morosco, who has provided the stage with so many dramatic successes, notably "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Heart," will make his first offering here this season when he presents the new comedy with music "So Long Letty." Like many Morosco pieces, "So Long Letty" was given its first hearing on the Pacific Coast, where, since its first performance, it has proved a success and achieved a run of over forty weeks in Los Angeles, Oakland, San Francisco and New York City.

The book of "So Long Letty"—and unlike most musical plays of late, it does possess a real book—is by Oliver Morosco and Elmer Harris and is based on the latter's well-known farce, "Your Neighbor's Wife," while the lyrics and music come from the pen of Earl Carroll, whose fame as a song writer of the popular variety is second only to Irving Berlin.

With such a farce as the basis the authors have, according to all advance reports, turned out a book that provides two and one-half hours of fun, while Mr. Carroll has provided eighteen song numbers of the calibre that are not soon forgotten.

Cap'n Warren's Wards

By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN.

Copyright, 1911, D. Appleton & Co.

"Yes. That is, he said you were very much surprised."

"That's partly it. I had heard of it, but I hadn't seen each other, or even written, in eighteen years."

"Um-hm. Well, when you consider that you wonder I was set all a-back? And the more I think of it the fogger it gets. Why, Mr. Sylvester, it's one of those situations that are impossible, that you can prove fifty ways can't happen. And yet, it has—it is—really has. Now tell me: Are you or your firm well acquainted with my brother's affairs?"

"Not well, no. The late Mr. Warren was a close mouthed man, rather secretive, in fact. Have you questioned the children?"

"Caroline and Steve? Yes, I've questioned 'em more than they think I have, maybe. And they know—well, leavin' out about the price of oil paint and the way to dress and that it's more or less of a disgrace to economize on twenty thousand a year, their worldly knowledge ain't too extensive."

"Do you like them?"

"I guess so. Just now ain't the fairest time to judge 'em. You see, they're sufferin' from the joyful shock of their country relation droppin' in, and—"

"He paused and rubbed his chin. His lips were smiling, but his eyes were not. Sylvester noted their expression and guessed many things."

"They haven't been disagreeable, I hope?" he asked.

"No, no. I wouldn't want to say that. They're young and—ah, well, I ain't the kind they've been used to. Caroline's a nice girl. She is, sure. All she needs is to grow a little older and have the right kind of advice and—"

"How about the boy?" Mr. Sylvester had not met young Warren, and his eyes twinkled as he spoke.

"Steve? Well—there was an answering twinkle in Captain Elisha's eye—well, Steve needs to grow, too, though I wouldn't presume to tell him so. When a fellow's underakin' to give advice to one of the seven wise men he has to be diplomatic, as you might say."

The lawyer put back his head and laughed uproariously.

"So far as we can see there are none except a few trifling bills."

"Yes, yes, hum." Captain Elisha put down his coffee spoon and seemed to be thinking. He shook his head. "I was puzzled afore I left home, and I'm just as puzzled now."

"What puzzles you, if I may ask?"

"Everything. And, if you'll excuse my sayin' so, Mr. Sylvester, I guess it puzzles you too."

He returned his host's look. The latter pushed back his chair, preparatory to rising.

"It is all so perfectly simple on the face of it, Cap'n Warren," he said. "Your brother realized that he must die, that his children and their money must be taken care of; you were his nearest relative; his trust in your honesty and judgment caused him to overlook the estrangement between you. That's the case, isn't it?"

"Yes, that's the case, on the face of it, as you say. But you've forgot to mention one item."

"What's that?"

"Himself. You know him pretty well, I can see that. So did I. And I guess that's why we're both puzzled."

The big lounging room of the club, on the first floor, fifth avenue side, was almost empty when they entered it. The lawyer drew two big chairs near the open fire, rang the bell and ordered cigars. After the cigars were lighted and the fragrant clouds of smoke were rising he reopened the conversation. And now, in an easy, diplomatic way, he took his turn at questioning.

"Meanwhile the room had been filling up. Around each of the big windows overlooking the avenue were gathered groups of men, young and old, smoking, chatting and gazing idly out. Captain Elisha regarded them curiously."

"This ain't a holiday, is it?" he asked after awhile.

"No, why?"

"I was just wondering if all those fellows hadn't any work to do, that's all."

"Who? Which one? Oh, that's young Corcoran Dunn. He is a lady killer in his own estimation. How d'ye do, Dunn?"

"Hello, Sylvester," the young man hailed carelessly. "That was a peach. You should have seen her. What? Why, it's the admiral!"

"How d'ye do, Mr. Dunn?" said Captain Elisha.

"Have you two met before?" asked Sylvester in astonishment.

"Yes, I had the pleasure of assisting in the welcoming salute when our seafarin' friend come aboard. How was that, Captain? Some nautical class to that remark?"

"Up. You done fast rate, considerin' how recent you shipped."

"Thanks. Overwhelmed, I'm sure. By the way, Sylvester, did you hear about my running over the Irishman this morning?"

"Running over?" repeated the captain, aghast. "You didn't run over nobody, I hope."

"Well, I came devilish near it. Ha, ha! You see, the old fellow was crossing St. Nicholas avenue with a big market basket full of provisions—the family dinner, I suppose. By Jove, the household appetites must be good ones. It was slippery as the mischief, I was running the car, and I tried to go between the fellow and the curb. It wouldn't have been a decent bit of steering if I'd made it. But—ha, ha—by Jove, you know, I didn't. I skidded. The man himself managed to hop out of the way, but his foot slipped and down he went. Most ridiculous thing you ever saw. And the street! 'Pon my word it was paved with eatables."

Sylvester, plainly annoyed, did not reply. But Captain Elisha's concern was evident.

"The poor critter!" he exclaimed. "What did you do?"

"The last I saw of him he was sitting in the mud, looking at the upset. I didn't linger. Peters took the wheel, and we beat it. Lucky the cop didn't spot the license number. Might have cost me fifty. They've had me up for speeding twice before. What are you and the admiral discussing Sylvester?"

"We were discussing a business matter," answered the lawyer, with significant emphasis.

"Business? Why, sure! I forgot that you were Graves' partner. Settling the family affairs, hey? Well, I won't butt in. Ta, ta! See you later, captain."

Dinner Stories

During a school tea a kindly English lady sat regarding one of the young guests with evident alarm. Undismayed by the lady's glance, the young hopeful demolished plate after plate of bread and butter and cake.

At last the lady could stand it no longer. Going up to the urchin she said: "My boy, have you ever read any book which would tell you what to eat, what to drink and what to avoid?"

"Why, bless you, ma'am," replied the young gentleman with his mouth full of cake, "I don't want no book. It's very simple. I eat all I can, I drink all I can and I avoids bustin'."

"I've heard a great deal about the law's delay," said the confirmed motorist.

"To be sure. Everybody is qualified to speak on that subject."

"Well, I am not. Time and again I've been arrested, tried and fined for speeding, all in less than an hour."

Another (to curate)—and do you really pray for your enemies? Ethel (overhearing)—I do, mummy.

"As I look into your eyes," he murmured, "I see much happiness in store for us."

"I fear there's nothing to it, Oswald," she replied, not unkindly. "Papa has been looking into your rating."

Return to Dishwashing and Hat Trimming After War? Women of England Can't Be Expected To

By RHETA CHILDE DORR.

London (By Mail).—I asked the manager of the great Hummer Works in Coventry, now devoted entirely to munitions making, what he thought was the limit of women's capacity as mechanical workers.

"Women can work at any machine," he replied. "They can be trained to do anything which we can do. But women cannot use hand tools. They can't even use a hammer."

One manager of another large munitions factory in Coventry was of another opinion. "Give women the proper kind of tools and they can do anything," he said. "If the hammers are too heavy, the girls are not taught to hold them correctly. If they are not corrected, they neglect to do so, of course."

The only limit to women's capacity, said Mr. Moss, superintendent of a London school for training munition workers, is physical. Women are not as strong as men, nor can they endure night work and overwork as well. Otherwise, given equal opportunity, experience, wages and decent living conditions, for women there is no limit to their capacity.

HER PLANTS MAINTAIN OWN TRAINING SCHOOLS

The school over which Mr. Moss presides is one of fifty training schools established by the British government since the war, and through which thousands of women have been trained into the mechanical trades. In addition to the government schools, most of the large works have training schools of their own.

No British woman has to travel far from her home to enter a training school that will fit her to do her bit for her country and the allies during the war, and will give her a skilled trade and a living wage as long as she remains a wage earner. In a previous article I said the English system of education was much worse than our own. But we have nothing that approaches the excellence of the vocational education given in these training schools.

They have adults for pupils, to be sure, but 80 per cent of the pupils are girls and women who never in their lives before worked at machines or possessed the most rudimentary idea of industrial processes.

It takes from six to eight weeks of training to make these women fit for the simpler processes, or for operating machines for making fuses, shells or parts of shells. The brighter pupils, in this length of time, often become skilled turners of center lathes, or even tool setters on capstan lathes.

"LADIES' PROVE TO BE EXCEPTIONAL TOOL SETTERS

"It takes temperament to be a good tool setter," said the superintendent of the London school. "Setting tools is what the workers call 'putting the brains into the machine.' It means adjusting the tools in a machine—usually one of your American products—so that it makes an article according to pattern. After the tools are set the work of operating the machine is purely mechanical."

"The first women who volunteered for munition work," he continued, "were women of education and superior class. They were splendid pupils and made exceptional workers. We had Lady Mary Hamilton among that first group. She became a tool setter in a Chiswick factory, and worked there until her marriage to Capt. Kenyon Stanley."

There seems to be no question that the better the education the better the worker.

"Give me a lady every time," said an English farmer, who had an Honorable Maud or Ethel working on his land. "You never have to tell a lady twice how to handle a horse or a cow."

England's happy experience with "lady" workers has resulted in a more critical selection of all candidates for training. The girls admitted to the fifty or more government trade schools must be healthy, intelligent, energetic and reputable. On admission to the school girls must sign an agreement to go to any part of the United Kingdom where they may be needed.

On the other hand, the government agrees to take good care of them wherever they are sent. After two probationary weeks the girls are paid while learning 25 shillings a week—36— and work eight hours a day. Six dollars a week used to be considered very good wages, for experienced workers.

WOMEN OVERSTREET LIMIT SET FOR THEIR EFFORTS

At first the object of the training schools was to aid in the process of diluting labor in munitions works—that is, of training women to take the places of men doing light automatic work, thus releasing more men to do skilled work. It was not intended that women should substitute men in skilled jobs, but precisely that has happened. Women have become skilled, they have taken men's places and the situation thus created is one of the most curious and complicated of all which have resulted from the war.

The dilution section of the labor supply department in the ministry of munitions publishes a monthly bulletin, a semi-confidential report, copies of which were courteously furnished me. In this bulletin one reads an account, highly technical in language, of the manufacturing of big shells exclusively by women of gauge making by women, who also set their own tools.

"Two of the girls grind their own tools—a notable performance, as the accuracy of the screw thread is checked in a magnifying apparatus. Girls are also employed in checking thread gauges—a job that requires not only manual skill, but also some mathematical knowledge as calculations have to be made."

In the aeroplane factories women have taken on one job or another until now they do highly skilled work. Many well educated women of the teacher class have gone into this branch, and scores of fighting planes in France have been made by them.

Heavy work the women cannot do, a rule, do successfully, but in light work they produce more than men. One employer reports that in certain detail machine operations the women exceed the output of the men 25 to 30 per cent, and it is not uncommon for the shop foreman to tell a woman to stand by for a while—that is, stop work, because "her over-much output upsets the men."

SPOIL LESS MATERIAL THAN MEN, SAYS EMPLOYER

Other employers report that women learn faster than men, that they spoil less material and that they are more careful. A very large number of women in munitions factories are soldiers' wives or daughters or sweethearts. They wouldn't slack. Not for all the trade unions in the kingdom. One woman I heard of was the mother of a young Yorkshire mechanic, who went to the war early in 1915. The mother learned to work at his lathe and has kept it ever since. Said the man who told me this story:

"She is not only keeping this job going, but her output on the job is a record for the country. She earns big wages and puts every penny of it into the bank, saving up for her boy's return."

The spirit, the pluck and courage shown by the women who work in the dangerous sections of the trades, making and mixing high explosives, cannot be overstated. The girls work with chemicals that ruin their hair, their skins, that give them painful sores on their hands. But they do it, and who will say that they are not brave and self-sacrificing as the men on the fighting line?

King Edward and Queen Mary recently made a tour of the danger zones, and in one of the danger zones the king asked a girl whose face was seamed with scars if she had an accident. She replied simply that she had been blown up three times.

"Add you went back!" exclaimed the king. "You are a plucky girl."

"I have a brother over there," replied the girl. "I'm fond of him, sir."

WOMEN "BREAK IN" ON NEW YEAR HONOR ROLL

Each new year in England the papers publish a long list of royal honors—titles given for various services, usually political, sometimes merely for money contributions, to the party in power, rewards of all kinds. Only since the war have they begun to give New Year's honors to women for deeds of their own. This year in the list of honors appeared these:

"Martha Branham—For courage in remaining continuously at a very dangerous task, in spite of the occurrence of several explosions. For continuing to work after suffering serious injuries through an explosion, resulting in loss of the right eye."

"Nora Morphett—For courage and high example in continuously working long hours in a poisonous atmosphere, which habitually affected her health."

"Agnes Mary Peters—For great courage and high example in continuing to do work of an exceptionally dangerous nature, which finally resulted in an accident by which she was totally blinded and otherwise injured."

These are just a few specimens of the women munition workers whose extraordinary courage and devotion in the year 1917 won them the medals of the British empire. "These are the women whom the trades unions and the British government permitted to enter the engineering trades, on sufferance, and because the country couldn't fight the war without them."

MANY OF THEM WILL STICK TO THEIR JOBS

They were to be put out of the trade as soon as the emergency was past, but now it is beginning to be feared that they can't be put out. Think of the black ingratitude of any set of men, trade unionists, soldiers or statesmen, who would try to put them out.

Some of the men in the shops, foremen and skilled workmen, who have taught the women, helped them to develop skill, openly declare in favor of keeping them on. Many employers say they will keep them.

The opinion has been expressed that the women will voluntarily leave the mechanical trades. Many married women probably will. Some, perhaps, of the leisure class women, who have gone to work for patriotic motives, will go home, do church work, pour tea and read novels. More of them will have learned to love work for its own sake and they will stick.

That any number of women now working for good wages in skilled trades will meekly hand the jobs over to men and go back to $3 a week in millinery, dressmaking and domestic service, is to my mind unthinkable. Imagine a woman who has risked her life loading shells, who has known the joy of creating great steel engines, of making winged machines that helped to win the greatest wars, going back to washing dishes or tending a hot iron on a power sewing machine.

CARE FOR INDUSTRIAL ARMY LIKE SOLDIERS

There is another consideration. The employers have invested much money, and the government has invested more, in the development of this labor force of women. Not one newspaper article or two or a dozen could adequately tell of the enormous amount of welfare work, so-called, which has been established in British shops and factories since the war. There has been nothing more violent about this. Very early in 1915, when women, in answer to their country's call, left their homes and entered industry, the discovery was made that this industrial army could not work efficiently unless it was cared for at least as well as the military army.

Men could not be expected to fight unless they were well fed, warmly clothed, comfortably shod and decently housed. Neither could women in factories produce the maximum output of shells, explosives and other war material unless they were well fed and decently clothed and housed.

The government appointed a committee on the health of munition workers, and what they discovered about industrial needs and conditions, and what the British government found, deserves careful reading by Americans, because with the expansion of our munitions production, and our new war conditions, we are facing many of the same problems, and we must deal with them as the British people have done.

Making a House into a Delightful Home is Chiefly a Matter of Taste

That air of charm and fine breeding, that delightful hospitality, that makes some homes so attractive—don't think it necessarily implies the expenditure of large sums of money. Many of the homes furnished by us at little cost possess charm that money alone cannot purchase. The open sesame is GOOD TASTE—a careful attention to environment and every detail of furnishing.

Fine upholstered suites and pieces that reproduce the art of the great French and English designers form a fitting "setting" for the development of home charm. Such suites are here in Mahogany, dependably made and richly covered, at sensible prices. You can choose from William and Mary to Louis XV, and we will gladly help you in your selection, if desired. ## JUNEAU FIVE GOES INTO FIRST PLACE IN BOWLING MEET Schmitt's Colts hit the Maples for 2,701—Also Roll High Scores in the Doubles With 1,119 and 1,057.

Schmitt's Colts of Janesville, perched comfortably on the West Side of the bowling alley, rolled in the Southwestern Wisconsin Bowling Tournament, held at the Maples in the five-man class for 2,701 high score of the tournament. They rolled two games each and averaged several two hundred pins, making the total. This was the first time in the history of the tournament that a team had rolled a game with 500 pins.

In the doubles they also performed well, one of their teams rolling 1,119, and the other 1,057 pins per man. The other pair in the doubles, Koenitzer and his partner, rolled 1,035 pins. The singles, Koenitzer rolled high with 582, closely followed by Johnson with 570.

Local pin experts were erratic in their bowling in the doubles last night. Richards and Robbins hitting 1,100 and 1,090 pins. Koenitzer rolled only 1,035.

The scores of last night's events were:

NATIONAL RAILWAY BOWLING TOURNAMENT IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, March 14.—Bowlers from all sections of the country will compete in the National Railway Bowling Association tournament which is to be held here April 6 to 14. It is estimated that at least 100 teams will take part.

Having obtained a large number of players by purchase and exchange, the St. Louis Browns are figuring on the probable lineup for the opening of the American league season. The best calculations of the experts are wrong. Sisk, Gordon and Maise will be the basement. Gerber will play first base, and the outfield will be covered by Bennett, Williams and Leo Moore. The pitchers will be Secor and Summner, while the catchers will include Gault, Davenport, Quinn, Brockner and Sotheron. Batted lines will have to perform a feat to put this combination in the first division.

MIKE AND IKE—THEY LOOK ALIKE

BOXING PROSPECTS LOOK VERY BRIGHT

THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] New York, March 14.—With a battle for the heavyweight championship of the world assured, interest in the boxing game has revived wonderfully during the past few weeks.

The boxing game, of course, are occupying the spotlight now, but there is plenty of room for the little fellows to edge in, and unless present prospects go awry there will be some interesting battles in other divisions between May 30 and Labor Day.

In so far as their connections with the army or navy stand now, the foremost boxers of the country in all divisions are in positions where they can obtain furloughs which would enable them to engage in important bouts.

Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion; Ted Lewis, champion of the welter; Johnny Kilbane, king of the bantams, will all be available for promoters who want to stage championship bouts. Mike O'Dowd, the middleweight champion, can also be counted on to find a way to accept any attractive offers which may be made to him.

So the chances that boxing will boom during the coming summer are brighter than they have been for a year, and the impetus a heavyweight championship bout will lend the game in general cannot be underestimated.

Aside from the featherweight division, in which Kilbane rules practically alone, there are plenty of good boys springing up, and plenty of challenges with experience to select from.

The bantams, in particular, are growing in numbers, and with the Gibbons brothers, Harry Greb and others eager to try conclusions with Mike O'Dowd, the middleweight division offers a field in which there should be some action.

CONFERENCE TITLE WON BY WISCONSIN

Lafayette, Ind., March 13.—Due to the fine work of Mike Knapp, Milwaukee boy, who is playing his first year on the varsity five, the Wisconsin basketball team was able to defeat the Purdue quintet Wednesday night and clinch the Big Ten basketball championship. Knapp, who caged four field goals during the contest, broke a tie that existed five minutes before time was up by shooting two goals in rapid succession. Zulfier followed with another and the title was won for the Badgers.

Purdue's floor work was up to standard but the team was unable to connect with the basket.

The first half opened fast and the two teams remained evenly matched throughout the period which ended 12 to 11 in favor of the Boilermakers.

The Indiana quintet played the Wisconsin team to a finish until five minutes before the game ended, when Knapp caged his baskets.

Chandler, who has repeatedly won games by his excellent shooting in the last few minutes of play, was well taken care of by Church, who held the Badger to two goals.

Simpson, with three baskets, starred with Knapp. Tilson and Church played a stellar game for Purdue.

Summary:
Purdue: Tilson 17, Knapp 17, Markley 17, Campbell 17, Church 17, Helm 17.
Field goals—Knapp 4, Simpson 3, Chandler 2, Tilson 2, Church 2, Campbell 2, Zulfier 1. Free throws—Church 6 out of 8, Chandler 2 out of 6.

Sport Snap Shots

The introduction of eight ounce gloves into eastern boxing is bringing up a new argument. The bill that may bring boxing into repute in Jersey proposes the use of the eight ounce "pillow" gloves and there are quite a few who believe that boxing with gloves so large will be nothing better than a joke. But this is mistaken because in spite of the generally accepted idea that big gloves make the game a tame affair it is known that knockouts with the large gloves are just as likely as with smaller ones or with bare knuckles. The thing is explained in this way. The blow from a padded glove covers so much of the jaw that the force is distributed over a much larger space than it otherwise would be. The jarring effect is really greater. Everyone knows that in the old days of bare knuckles knockouts were comparatively rare. The use of gloves in the fight game has brought the knockouts and the greater punishment. It is true that in the days of bare knuckles the boxers were cut and bruised more but they were seldom knocked unconscious. If eight ounce gloves are used in Jersey every one will have a chance to see that the "pillows" will not make the game any the less interesting.

President Weeghman of the Cubs is using new methods in his desperate attempt to buy star players. He is trying to arrange a deal for Rogers Hornsby without talking to the newspapers. It is reported that Weeghman has offered to hand over Shortstop Wortman, Pitchers Hendrix and Carter, Catcher Elliott, Outfielder Plack and $50,000 for the release of Hornsby. Furthermore, insiders say that Branch Riskey, president of the Cardinals, now is inclined to consider Weeghman's proposition. Hornsby demands a $10,000 salary, which Riskey cannot afford to pay.

John McGraw received a letter from Hank Gowdy recently, in which the former star catcher of the Braves, who is now in France with the American expeditionary force, relates a number of interesting happenings close to the firing line on the western front. Gowdy writes that his regiment is quartered in a small village and that the company of which he is a member is billeted in a chateau. He ventures the opinion that he will soon be in the front line trenches. Even the exciting incidents of the past few months have failed to obscure from Hank's mind memories of Marlin, for he winds up the letter as follows: "Suppose this will reach you at Marlin. How well do I remember the 'K. C.' steaks and the smoked hams for which that town is famous!"

Ping Bodie has joined the ranks of the holdouts. The Athletics have offered him less money than he received last year and a promise that he will share in the gross receipts of the club. Ping fears there won't be "no gross receipts."

The water has backed up in the manholes and yesterday it rose some five feet in the man hole near the Swift street bridge. This is an unhealthy condition, and should receive attention as soon as the weather will permit. The water from the creek must get into the sewer pipe from some source, and if this could be stopped the trouble would undoubtedly be eliminated.
